On behalf of the Alabama Hospice Organization (AHO) board of directors and conference committee, I want to invite you to join those who provide or support hospice care in Alabama on October 9-11 for the AHO's 27th Conference, "True Blue: A Commitment to Community."

This event is AHO's primary outreach and educational opportunity for Alabama's key hospice decision makers, clinicians and administrators. Because of this event's importance, we have engaged national speakers to join in this event.

This year, we have made some changes to the event to meet more of your needs. Each booth will be set up to ensure equal visibility. We will also allot more time for guests to visit each table. Prices have not changed in any part of the event, but we have made sure you will be getting more value for your money.

I hope that you'll join us as an exhibitor for this event. We have listened to the suggestions of last year's exhibitors. We have made every effort to implement as many of those as possible.

Exhibit details are provided in this information for your review. AHO realizes that you have many opportunities to work with various healthcare providers and sincerely appreciate your participation. You may also be interested in sponsoring a portion of this conference. If so, this opportunity is available and detailed information is also included in this brochure.

Again, AHO is grateful for your ongoing support of hospice care in Alabama. I look forward to meeting you again in Montgomery!

Deb Stark, RN, BSN

President, Alabama Hospice Organization
